MANHOOD
IN THE
YOUNG AND RISING GENERATION.

The vegetative powers of life are strong but in few years how often the pallid hue the lack lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort show their baneful influence It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence in check n the development of the body Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise thoughts are turned inwardly upon themselves

If the patient be a female the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it fed on The energies of the system are prostrated and the whole economy is deranged The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman is looked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim

the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids Frequently, Black Spots Flying before the Eyes with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness with Horror of Society No thing is more desirable to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread for fear of themselves, no repose of manner, no earnestness, no speculation but a hurried transition from one question to another

THESE SYMPTOMS, IF ALLOWED TO GO ON —WHICH THIS MEDICINE INVARIABLY REMOVES—SOON FOLLOW LOSS OF POWER FATUITY AND EPILEPTIC FITS IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.

During the Superintendence of Dr Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum this same result occurred to two patients Reason had for a time then, and left both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions In insane Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute, neither mirth nor grief ever visits it Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate

"With woful measures wan despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguiled "

While we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the

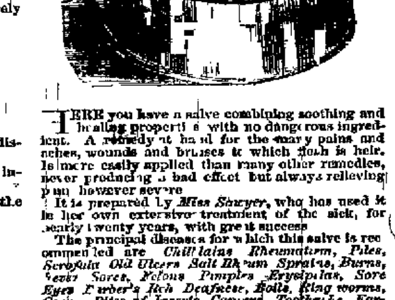
MISS SAWYER'S SALVE.



HERE you have a salve combining soothing and healing properties with no dangerous ingredient. A remedy at hand for the many pains and aches, wounds and bruises to which flesh is heir. Is more easily applied than many other remedies, never producing a bad effect but always relieving pain however severe
It is prepared by Miss Sawyer, who has used it in her own extensive treatment of the sick, for nearly twenty years, with great success
The principal diseases for which this salve is recommended are Chilblains Rheumatism, Piles, Scrofula Old Ulcers Salt Rheum Sprains, Burns, Fever Sores, Felons Pimples Erysipelas, Sore Eyes Barber's Itch Deafness, Boils, Ring worms, Corns, Bites of Insects, Cancers, Toothache, Earache, Sore Nipples Baldness, Swollen Breasts, Itch Scald Head, Teething Chapped Hands, Scalds Cuts Bruises, Croup, Cracked Lips, and Sores on Children
It never fails to cure Rheumatism if properly applied Rub it on well with the hand three times a day In several cases it has cured palsied limbs. For Piles it has been discovered to be a sure remedy Persons that have been afflicted for years have been relieved by a few applications For Erysipelas it works wonders, allaying the inflammation and quieting the patient. For Chapped Hands it produces a cure immediately Let those with Salt Rheum obtain this Salve, and apply it freely and they will find it invaluable It is good in cases of Scrofula and Tumors. Cancers have been cured with it. The best Salve ever invented for Swollen Breast and Sore Nipples No way injurious but sure to afford relief Sore or Weak Eyes—Rub it on the lids gently once or twice a day Cures deafness by putting in the ears on a piece of cotton For Felons this is superior to anything known For Pimples this acts like a charm For Burns and Scalds, apply the Salve at once and it gives immediate relief For Old Sores apply once a day
Not among the least of the invaluable properties of MISS SAWYER'S SALVE are its beneficial effects on the hair Rubbed on the scalp in five or six different parts, it promotes the growth of the hair, prevents it turning gray, and on bald spots it produces a new growth of hair No lady should be without this invaluable article as an indispensable cosmetic for the toilet It eradicates dandruff and disease from the head, and blotches and pimples from the face

From Mrs ELIZABETH COOMBS, Brunswick.
Brunswick April 4 1867
MISS SAWYER I received your letter, last evening, and was very glad you concluded to let me take your Salve. I think I can do well with it and it will be quite an accommodation to my husband as he cannot get along without it He has tried everything else and has never found anything that healed his leg as that Salve of yours and we have both found it to be all and even more than you recommend it to be We have had it in the family five or six years, and have used it for everything, and can truly say we have never found its equal I use it for a weak back and it acts like a charm Mr Coombs has had a Fever Sore on his leg for thirty years and would be a cripple to-day if he had not found a remedy in your Salve It keeps it healed and takes out the inflammation proud flesh and swelling, and does for him all that he can ask I can recommend it for a good many things that you have not, for I use it for everything I consider it invaluable in a family If you can put this testimony together, and I can be of any service to you you are welcome.
Yours, &c., ELIZABETH COOMBS

THE POPULAR LOAN.

Northern Pacific Bonds!!

$6,000,000

Of these bonds were sold in London, and over

$1,500,000

Sold in the United States during the month of January

These Bonds have sold, during the past year to an extent unequalled by those of any other Corporation, and they have now taken their place among the solid and favorite securities of the country.

This is because the Bonds are based upon the amplest security, being a FIRST AND ONLY MORTGAGE "upon the railroad, franchises, and all the lands and property, and rights of property, real and personal, now in possession by the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, or which the said Company may hereafter acquire." The Land Grant of the Northern Pacific Railroad will average over 23 000 acres to each mile of road This land is capable of producing in abundance all the Fruits, Vegetables and cereals of the Eastern or Middle State

THE VALUE OF LAND GRANTS

The average price at which twenty six land grant railroads have thus far sold their lands is $7 04 per acre—the highest average of any grant being $13 08, and the lowest $3 07 With few exceptions, the average selling price has increased from year to year The lands of the Northern Pacific Road are admitted, by all who have seen them, to be better and more saleable than those of most other grants, but, sold at the general average of 7 04 per acre, they will yield more than $161,000 per mile of road—more than three times the possible cost of construction and equipment, or, at the lowest average of any grant (3 07) they will produce more than $70,000 per mile, which is $20 000 per mile more than the company are allowed to issue bonds

TRAFFIC ON PACIFIC RAILROADS

As officially reported, the gross earnings of the present Pacific Railroad (Union and Central) for 1871, the second year of through business (December earnings estimated), reach Seventeen Millions and a Quarter Of this 65 per cent is from Local Business, and, it is stated, fully 55 per cent or nearly Nine and a Half Millions, are net over operating expenses

An equal traffic on the Northern Pacific Road will pay a dividend of 9½ per cent on its total cost With its great and unquestioned advantages in distance grades, climate, and tributary fertile country, the Northern Pacific is assured of a vast and profitable business from the outset, with a large increase for the future

These facts regarding Pacific Railroad earnings, and the market value of Railroad Lands, as shown by actual sales to settlers, show the unquestioned security of Northern Pacific Railroad Bonds.

CONSTRUCTION OF THE ROAD

The road is completed to the eastern boundary of Dakota, the Red River of the North, a distance of 255 miles, On the Pacific coast, 65 miles are under construction, the greater part of which is completed, —including purchased lines, the Northern Pacific Company have now nearly 600 miles of running road Contracts are let for the construction of 635 miles more, to be finished before the close of 1872

WE WOULD RECOMMEND THE NORTHERN PACIFIC SEVEN-THIRTY GOLD BOND AS ONE OF THE BEST AND SAFEST SECURITIES NOW OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC

In this security are combined the high credit of a first class Railroad Bond, with the solidity and safety of a Real Estate Mortgage on Land worth more than twice the amount loaned.

These Bonds are payable in 1900—bear 7 3-10 per cent interest in Gold payable first of July and January, are free of U S Tax—are receivable at 10 per cent premium for the Company's Lands at the lowest cash price, and are issued in the following denominations Coupon bonds, $100, $500 and $1000, Registered bonds, $100, $500, and $1 000 $5,000 and $10 000.

The proceeds of all sales of Land are required to be devoted by the Trustees of the bondholders, (Messrs Jay Cooke and J Edgar Thompson,) as a Sinking Fund to the purchase and cancelation of the first mortgage bonds.

EXCHANGING 5-20s In view of the ability and fixed policy of the Government to call in its 5 20s and substitute a low-interest bond—$140 000,000 having been called in for cancellation since September 1st—many holders of 5 20s are exchanging them for Northern Pacifics, thus adding to their principal the present premium on Government Bonds, and increasing their yearly interest income nearly one-third

All marketable stocks and bonds, will be received at current prices in exchange for Northern Pacific Seven Thirties without expense to the investor

For further particulars concerning this Bond, or purchase of the same, apply to the undersigned.

THE
RAILROAD IS A FINISHED LINE

Running through one of the richest portions of Illinois, and connecting Chicago by the shortest route with the celebrated Block Coal fields of Indiana, and by way of Evansville and Nashville with the entire South Its mortgage debt is $2, 500,000, or about $18,500 to the mile Although the road is but just opened, it is already earning, after all operating expenses are paid,

More than the Entire Interest on all its bonds While railroad bonds may be plenty, those upon finished and paying lines and for so small a sum to the mile, are seldom in the market

We do not hesitate to recommend these Bonds as unusually safe They are attended with none of the uncertainties of projected enterprises, and the prompt payment of the interest, and the final payment of the principal, are as certain as any future financial event

The Bonds are for $1,000 each, have forty years to run, and bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, payable on the first of April and October, both principal and interest being payable in gold in New York

We are selling them daily to the most careful investors

HARDY'S
In offering to the public at this time, HARDY'S GENUINE JAUNDICE BITTERS as a remedy for all Bilious complaints, so prevalent everywhere in the vernal season of the year, I do not present any new and untried article puffed up by persons who perhaps are not known to any one but an old and tried article that has proved itself equal, if not superior, to any remedy of the kind, ever put into the market.

GENUINE
While I do not pretend to say they will cure all diseases human flesh is heir to, I do say they have been used for the last half century, and thoroughly tested by millions, and by those, too, of almost every nation on the globe and in every variety of climate, and have proved themselves, beyond all question, unequaled by any medicine for all BILIOUS and JAUNDICE COMPLAINTS which are so common everywhere, and to prevent contracting infections diseases peculiar to various climates

JAUNDICE
These Bitters are not unpleasant to the taste, they are a moderate cathartic, cleanse the Stomach and Bowels of Phlegm and vitiated Bile, strongly invigorate the coats of the Stomach promote digestion, and restore the loss of appetite.
They are invaluable for travelers, seafaring persons and those exposed to sudden changes of weather in warm climates, to the dyspeptic, and persons of sedentary habits. To such, they afford the most speedy relief when taken according to directions

TUESDAY MARCH 19 1872

THE CAMPAIGN OF 1872

We have seen no better statement of the bearings of the various movements which are set on foot to influence the result of the Presidential campaign than in the following article from Harper's Weekly. The objects and prospects of the Cincinnati movement are clearly stated, and the reasons for upholding the Republican party calmly and convincingly set forth —

The Cincinnati Convention will be really important should it make a nomination which would be supported by the entire opposition. If the Republican Convention at Philadelphia should nominate the President—as there is now very little doubt that it will—there will be a vigorous effort to combine the disaffected Republicans and the Democrats. If the effort does not succeed and a candidate is nominated at Cincinnati, the result will be a small diminution of the regular Republican vote, but not the defeat of the regular Republican candidate. If it does succeed, the Presidential campaign of 1872 will be the Republican party against the field. On the one side will be a host composed of old Copperheads, of the Ku Klux, of every man who in any degree hates the Government and the Union, of Republicans selfishly estranged from their party, known as "sore heads," with sincere Democrats and some Republicans who honestly believe that the re-election of General Grant would be a greater misfortune than the defeat of the Republican party. On the other side will be the great multitude of the old Republicans, with whom its principles are a political religion, who believe that it, and it alone, offers the surest guarantee of national peace, liberty, and prosperity, and with them the Republicans who are [illegible] interested in the party success, and [illegible] Democrats who would rather vote for Grant than for any other Republican.

In such a campaign why should any sincere Republican, who knows that in politics the repetition only to be content with the ideally best so often baffles the practically better, support the supposed Cincinnati candidate? Let us imagine him to be a Republican, able and honorable. Let us concede that to the voters of whom we speak he seems a man more fitted for the Presidential office than the candidate of the Republican Convention. Yet the necessities of his position and the conditions of his election, should he be elected, would necessarily constrain his action. The great mass of his supporters would be Democrats. In a Government like ours a Government by party, he could not escape his position. His administration, call it what you will, would be a Democratic administration, and [illegible] would be merely a bridge over which the Democratic party, fully organized, with banners flying and bugles blowing, with all its artillery, baggage wagons, and [illegible] would march into power in 1873.

This would not be true if the Cincinnati party were a new party. This was [illegible] in 1856, when the Republican party composed of Free soil Democrats and [illegible] Whigs, polled twelve hundred thousand votes for Fremont. The Republican organization was a new party, formed upon great issues and declaring great principles. It was not founded upon a preference of candidates or merely sectional [illegible] with administration. It was not a protest against certain men and alleged [illegible] in some details of administration, and with [illegible] recommendation of parties upon [illegible] amendment questions. There is no [illegible] tion now. The old issues are [illegible] ing to settlement. The country demands honest and efficient administration. But the mistake of the Cincinnati leaders is in supposing that the people believe honest and efficient administration to be surer under Democratic than under Republican control of the Government. Gentlemen at Washington fix their eyes upon some abuse of detail until they see nothing else, and naturally believe any thing desirable which in their judgment promises to remedy that. They demand a kind of symmetry and consistency of administration which are impossible. There will be in every administration great omissions, serious blunders, disheartening defeats of many kinds. But the wise and patriotic man, less anxious to find fault than to encourage and sustain every good endeavor, judging the whole by the general spirit and purpose rather than captiously challenging single acts, while he holds the administration justly responsible, will never [illegible] the alternative offered by the [illegible] Republican party.

THE COWARDICE OF MALICE

We have no words to waste in the hopeless task of endeavoring to force the [illegible] of the Commercial into an [illegible] of manly or honorable way. Emboldened by our exposure of alarmism, the editorship and circulation of which was traced to parties supposed to hold intimate relations with its office, it retorted to our vindication of a libelled public officer with contemptible threats of a personal attack upon the editor of this paper. Its threats were despised and we unequivocally challenged it to come out from the cover of miserable insinuation and to dare to make good its threatenings. After such a bravado of warning and such a challenge as ours, the shuffling innuendoes and shameless evasions of the article in its yesterday's issue breathe the very spirit of scoundrelism and cowardice. It lacks the dignity of the highwayman and emulates the infamy of the assassin. That a newspaper may become a public nuisance has already been demonstrated in this community by similar tactics, and one which seeks to stab at private character while skulking from responsibility is a fester upon society. We dismiss the war of leers and grimaces which is directed at us with our utter contempt.

WHY PRESIDENT GRANT SHOULD BE NOMINATED. In a letter written prior to the assembling of the State Convention, Hon D H Chamberlain, Attorney General of South Carolina after reviewing the political history of the two parties, set forth the propriety of re nominating President Grant, in the following earnest words —

That candidate who shall have most power to consolidate and unite all our strength ought to be preferred. Tried by this test who can measure strength with General Grant? Other candidates may have strong supporters, but certainly no one of the many distinguished Republicans who have been named has yet secured more than a very limited strength while even those opposed to General Grant's re-nomination are forced to admit that he is incomparably stronger than all his rivals combined.

But I would not place the choice of Grant upon the ground of availability alone or chiefly. It is the great fact that he has been tried and found faithful, that he is honest and patriotic, that his record of service and achievement is more illustrious than that of any American since Washington, that should stand at the helm of State for another term. I may make the largest allowances for mistakes of detail or policy which the opponents of his re-nomination claim, and still the great results to which I have referred remain unquestioned and undeniable.

No greater mistake can possibly be made than the fancy that the fruits of the last ten years of our national life are all securely garnered, safe from attack or loss. It is not for the purpose of prolonging a successful political war, but because the truth stares us in all sides, that I say that the same issue will, in the coming campaign, arrest the attention of the American people as in the campaign of 1868. With slight modifications great questions growing directly out of the war would divide the two parties. We may wish it were otherwise, but the folly of our opponents still chains us to those issues—since the opening hour of the rebellion, Gen Grant has marched steadily forward, in war and in peace, to continuous and triumphant victory. Let the American people again commission him to assert their power, support their honor, illustrate their justice, and perpetuate their liberty.

FORNEY'S POSITION. The Washington Republican says. We understand that there is no truth whatever in the newspaper statement that Col John W Forney is an applicant for service in the Cabinet. Mr Forney has grown tired and weary of official life, and will accept no position which would in any way interfere with his great usefulness as an independent journalist. The editor of the Press he believes to be a far more honorable position than that of any Cabinet Minister. Col Forney's numerous enthusiastic friends are truly anxious to again see him in a position of public honor and trust but the interests of his great journal are at present all commanding with him, and can be sacrificed for almost any official distinction whatever. Col Forney intends to support the re-nomination and re-election of President Grant, and the same reasons that lead him to resign the collectorship of the port of Philadelphia prevent him from accepting any office at the hands of the administration.

HONORS TO THE MEMORY OF MAZZINI.— A demonstration at Rome on Sunday, in honor of the memory of Joseph Mazzini was a success. An immense procession, including all the workingmen's societies with their flags and bands of music carried a bust of the deceased patriot through the principal streets to the Capitol where it was deposited with imposing ceremonies and eloquent speeches. Good order was maintained throughout.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL

Hon W H [illegible] T A Hendricks says that he is not a candidate for the office of Governor of Indiana and has no purpose of being so.

In the Lexington (Mo.) Caucasian appears an article headed with a pistol denouncing the way to beat Grant! [illegible]

Says the Portsmouth (N H) Chronicle — Ku Klux and rebels raided this State in vain. Wherever they blew their copperhorn the Republicans made a gain.

Since the New Hampshire election Democratic papers have much to say about the abandonment of "dead issues." The more direct course would be to abandon the party which clings to the "dead past."

The election of a State Senator in the 5th District of Pennsylvania on the 15th inst., to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Evans resulted in the election of Waddell Republican, by 700 majority.

In one of the last letters written by Gen Thomas he alluded deprecatingly to the effort then making to bring him out as a Presidential candidate in 1872. He thought Grant entitled to a second term or at least to the nomination as an expression of the approbation of the party for his past services. For himself while subject to the call of the Government in whatever military capacity he might be thought competent to fill, all civil honors and duties he should continue to decline.

At St Joseph Mo, the other day a Democratic meeting running dry called on a colored citizen who happened to be present, expecting a little fun at his expense. But they caught a Tartar for after showing up the inconsistency of Democratic professions and practice in a few trenchant sentences, the colored orator closed with these words "Gentlemen, I am a Republican, and can never be anything else. If you Democrats think to catch a colored man by shaking a 'possum at him, you are terribly mistaken. We go the straight out-and-out Republican ticket."

Bishop Simpson has recently rendered an ecclesiastical decision which is not so complimentary to the United States Senate as it might be. It seems the appointment of Dr Newman to the chaplaincy of the Senate after his pastoral period in Washington had expired, raised a question of church government which Bishop Simpson promptly decided by saying that under the general law of the church he had the power to appoint chaplains to reformatory institutions, and he considered the United States Senate to fall within the scope of the rule.

The New York World has become sadly demoralized since the New Hampshire election. Prior to that event it would listen to no policy that savored of passivism. The Democratic party would furnish the votes and it must dictate the policy and the candidate. Now it [illegible] the support of a correspondent who wishes the Democrats [illegible]

The new City Government which was inaugurated yesterday, is composed of strong, efficient and trustworthy citizens. The Mayor's address, though brief which is an unusual merit, is terse suggestive and practical and with the able co-operation of the boards, we may hope for good work in behalf of our city interests. There are important questions of policy to arise in the immediate future, and we have reason to believe that they will receive candid, [illegible] liberal and progressive treatment. The council [illegible] and we [illegible] do much for our [illegible] the gentlemen who have [illegible] invested with municipal responsibilities that opportunities are not lost.

THE BOSTON DAILY GLOBE has sought to make reparation for any injustice done our city in publishing the dispatch concerning our Treasury by giving editorial prominence to our contradiction as follows —

BANGOR, ME.—We published, last week, a telegram giving a brief account of a political caucus in Bangor. In the dispatch it was stated that "several serious charges were made by one of the speakers, one of which is to the effect that a defalcation has been discovered in the city treasury." The Bangor Whig, in commenting on this dispatch, says "The libel upon the credit of the city and the character of a faithful and highly respected public officer, is without the shadow of foundation. Mr Paine, the present and former City Treasurer for some fourteen consecutive years, and not a shadow has rested upon his integrity. At the annual audits of his books, every cent of the public money has been scrupulously accounted for, and the present examination is but the customary audit, the resolution ordering it being a verbatim copy of that of last year. Neither the Mayor nor any other of our public officers has the slightest doubt of the entire correctness of the Treasurer's accounts."

The Boston Advertiser of Monday has the following remarks concerning the position of Senator Sumner —

The statement connecting the name of Senator Sumner with the Cincinnati Convention, which was current in political circles last Friday and Saturday, did not rest on his authority. The promoters of that gathering have counted upon his co-operation so confidently, and have had such encouragement in the attitude of avowed hostility to the administration, that they announced his determination too soon. The entire freedom with which Mr Sumner has expressed his sentiments in public and private, has left no room for doubt as to his position in the event of the President's re-nomination at Philadelphia. But he is a Republican Senator, and in the government he stands in place of the Common wealth. So much, at least, is due to those who have trusted their political and public interests to his keeping, to restrain him from taking part in an organized opposition the character and objects of which are as little known as those of the Cincinnati Convention.

THE CONNECTICUT CAMPAIGN. Senator Wilson has gone to Connecticut having appointments to speak in towns in the northern part of the State every evening for the remainder of the week. Henry O'Conner, lately attorney general of Iowa will also take part in the Republican canvass. Senator Ferry, who is also to take such part in the canvass as will give the Liberal Republicans very little comfort, remarked the other day that he should maintain in his speeches that the present administration, taken as a whole, is the best since that of Washington.

The character of the damage inflicted upon the President by disaffected Senators is likened to that inflicted on the bird by the boy. The urchin climbed up trees, the bird skipped nightly away. Finally the boy gave up in disgust. "Well," said he, "I didn't catch him, but I worried him a great deal."

The [illegible] Magazine states that there [illegible] ant to any one of improved land.

Concerts to nominate Charles Francis Adams for President, by asserting that gentleman's qualifications to be "preeminent." It goes even further and expresses its willingness to support Mr Trumbull, Judge Davis (to the history of whose judicial career it devotes three columns of space) or Gov. Brown. At ter Connecticut speaks we shall be prepared to hear the World pronounce the funeral oration of the Democratic party.

MOWING MACHINE,

Manufactured by GREGG & CO., Trumansburg, New York

THIS Mower having been in use six seasons—sufficiently long to enable us to correct all imperfections incident to the construction of a new machine—we offer to farmers the MEADOW KING as the most simple and practical mower in use.

The representations and voluntary letters of recommendation from all sections where used, speak of this mower in the highest terms

We refer to parties who used the Meadow King last season.

For strength, simplicity of construction, lightness of draught, durability and ease of management, it cannot be surpassed.

The Finger Bar is without Hinges or Joints

The Knife always in a line with the Pitman

The knife cannot be crowded under any circumstance, running equally well in any position, from horizon to perpendicular.

This novel invention, upon THIS MACHINE ONLY, makes the only flexible finger bar yet invented.

The adjustable wheel at each end of the Cutter Bar, to either with the flexibility of the bar, enable it to cut perfectly to uneven ground.

The knife has a quick motion and short stroke, enabling the machine to do good work when it is drawn slowly by horses or team and well.

We cordially invite farmers to give this machine an examination.

For a description of its "peculiar" merits and features, also recommendations, see our descriptive circular for 1872, to be had of our local agents, or forward d free on application.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY—A ROW IN JERSEY CITY—POLICE ATTACKED AND BEATEN.

St. Patrick's Day was generally celebrated by the Irish population. Large processions paraded in this city, Brooklyn and Jersey City. About 11 o'clock this morning as the procession of Irish Societies was passing Hudson street, Jersey City, near the ferry, officer Bowe of the police, attempted to escort a number of ladies across the street through the lines of the procession. This excited the indignation of some of the processionists, who seemed to think they had a monopoly of the thoroughfare, and they attacked the officer with professional staves and fists and beat him severely. Quite a melee ensued and the officers were completely overpowered. Officer Field came to the assistance of Bowe and was attacked and beaten. The procession was temporarily broken up and quite a fierce fight took place for some minutes. At last further police succor arrived and quite a number of members of societies who had been engaged in the affray were arrested and taken to the station house. Bowe's injuries are said to be of a very serious nature.

HALL'S TRIAL.

Judge Daley decided to-day that he had the power to extend the term of court to conclude any trial before it, consequently the trial of Mayor Hall will be continued.

THE SEIZED FERRY BOATS.

The counsel for the directors of the Staten Island Ferry Co., have asked further time of the Sheriff to decide as to their course relative to the steamboats Northfield and Westfield. Both the boats are in the hands of the Sheriff, who will tie them up shortly, if the bills are not paid in accordance with the decisions of the courts.

The celebration of St. Patrick's Day by the Irish residents in and vicinity, was noteworthy for enthusiasm and absence of the disturbing elements. The procession in this city probably numbered 13,000, headed by the 69th New York and 1st New Jersey militia and several minor military organizations. Among the attractions were the Gallow Glasses, a body of men in the ancient costumes of the Irish, the banner presented to the St. Patrick's Alliance by the "Nun of Kenware," and a bust of O'Connell. The streets were packed with sight-seers. The procession was reviewed by the Mayor and other members of the city government. Brooklyn also had a fine procession, probably a mile in length.

THE JURORS.

In the Hall case will be discharged and a new panel summoned, their names being retained in the jury box. Judge Daly expresses doubt whether the court now held by Recorder Hackett is valid and which court has power to summon a new panel.

The trial of five Police Commissioners and Chief of Police of Jersey City, commenced this morning on the charge of frauds on the City Treasury.

THE WEATHER.

WAR DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER, WASHINGTON, March 19—1 A. M.

Probabilities.

The low barometer north of Lake Erie will continue moving eastwardly over the Northern New England States, preceded by very brisk and probably high southerly winds along the Middle and East Atlantic coast and rain and snow. Pleasant weather will prevail over the Southern States on Tuesday with southwesterly winds veering to northwesterly. A rising barometer, falling temperature, northwesterly winds and clearing weather will extend eastward over Michigan and the Ohio Valley by Tuesday morning and over the Middle States by Tuesday evening very generally. Cautionary signals are ordered for Baltimore, Cape May, New York, New London, Boston and Portland.

FORTY-SECOND CONGRESS—SECOND SESSION

WASHINGTON, March 18.

SENATE.

Mr. Morrill of Vt., from the Committee on Public Buildings, reported and asked to be discharged from further consideration, a resolution of the Legislature of New Jersey proposing that the United States should purchase Independence Hall, and that the purchase money should be used by Philadelphia to erect buildings for the Centennial anniversary. Mr. Morrill in the report on the resolution said no one who had a soul worth praying for, would make such a proposal.

Mr. Conkling called up the resolution asking the President for a statement of recommendations made to office by certain Senators.

Mr. Fenton said he would vote for it as his colleague thought it necessary for his own vindication, and he would vote also for the amendment offered by Mr. Tipton extending the inquiry to all Senators, because there were other Senators who might make as few recommendations as his colleague who also might wish to be vindicated. He had carefully refrained from charging that Mr. Conkling had made many recommendations, ever since Mr. Conkling had denied it, a year ago.

Mr. Tipton's amendment was rejected.

Mr. Trumbull offered an amendment that the heads of Departments distinguish between recommendations and references.

Mr. Conkling accepted the amendment, and as amended the resolution was adopted.

Mr. Harlan, from the Committee on Indian Affairs, reported with amendments the House bill opening for preemption settlement the Indian lands in Kansas.

A number of bills were introduced and referred, including one to aid the rebuilding of the Mississippi levees by the issue of 10 40 bonds to the Mississippi Levee Co. at a rate of $15,000 per mile; and another annulling the act of the Legislature of the District of Columbia incorporating a National Junction Railway Company. The bill provides that no steam railway to be opened within the District of Columbia, shall be authorized or carried out without the special assent of Congress.

The Chicago Relief bill was discussed by Messrs. Wright, Ferry of Michigan, Carpenter and Boreman, until 4.15 o'clock, when the Senate went into Executive session and soon after adjourned.

HOUSE.

A large number of bills were introduced.

Mr. Hooper of Mass., supplementary civil rights bill came up, but the time left of the morning hour was consumed in votes on dilatory motions, and the bill again went over without action.

Mr. Wood of N. Y., offered a resolution for the disbursement of the Treasury balance, which was rejected.

The bill to contract with the Globe for reporting Congressional debates was taken up under a suspension of the rules.

After some discussion and several votes by yeas and nays, the House at 4.20 adjourned without having disposed of the bill, which comes up as unfinished business to-morrow.

POLITICAL MATTERS.

SENATOR SUMNER.

NEW YORK, March 18. The Times special states that Senator Sumner said to friends yesterday that he was not going to preside at the Cincinnati Convention, and that he had not been approached on that subject.

GEN. GARFIELD

says Tipton had no right to use his name, for when he (Garfield) intends to leave the Republican party he will in advance give broad notice of the fact.

MR. DAWES,

in response to a query on the subject, writes the following letter:

"WASHINGTON, March 16.

No one has any authority for the statements in respect to myself attributed to Senator Tipton. I have no views in the matter that I hesitate to avow. I have no sympathy with the political movement at Cincinnati, and took alone to the Philadelphia Convention an authoritative action of the Republican party. Yet I can but regard as impolitic and unwise, the course pursued by prominent politicians toward many of those who are honest and earnest in their support of the principles of the Republican party; a course from which I believe this movement to derive its chief support. That party having no ground to fear an investigation, should not seem to have any.

(Signed) H. L. DAWES."

JAS. F. WILSON.

The Times dispatch also states that it has been formally resolved to put James F. Wilson of Iowa before the Philadelphia Convention as candidate for Vice-President.

THE TRIBUNE'S STATEMENT—SUMNER WILL NOT SUPPORT GRANT.

The Tribune's Washington dispatch says Mr. Sumner stated yesterday that he was master of his opinion, and that while he would not on any account ally himself to a party wherein Democrats were made candidates, and would not on any account vote for or encourage the election of Democrats, neither would he on any account support Gen. Grant for renomination or re-election.

SUMNER AND WILSON.

His colleague, Senator Wilson, had a long conversation with him on Friday, when the above subject was discussed. Mr. Sumner announced to Mr. Wilson that he feared the time had come, or would shortly come, when their paths politically would diverge, but he hoped no personal unfriendliness would grow out of their political alienation.

MAGNANIMOUS ADVICE.

He advised Senator Wilson with other strong friends of the President to go to General Grant and urge upon him to withdraw his name as candidate before the American people, and not to allow it to go before the delegates of the Philadelphia Convention, and thus achieve a name for unselfish and magnanimous conduct second to none in history. That if he persisted in being a candidate and office-holders should succeed in re-nominating him, he would simply and emphatically be the disunion candidate, so far as party is concerned.

FORNEY AND SUMNER.

Forney dined with Sumner Saturday evening, and asked him directly if he was going to Cincinnati. He refused to say he was not. He further said that in his estimation no men had done so much to cause disruption in the party as Forney and Senator Wilson. He said the same thing Sunday to a Massachusetts man.

WHAT THE "WORLD" SAYS.

The World says Mr. Sumner does not favor the nomination of Davis at Cincinnati, and that he is of the opinion that a national man, not allied to any party or faction should be nominated. It is understood that Mr. Sumner and friends will work for the nomination of Mr. Trumbull or Charles Francis Adams. Some assert that Sumner himself is desirous of the nomination.

He had stated that according to his recollection his conversation with the President when he had said said Leet ought to leave the General Order business, took place early last fall; he now desired to say his visit to Washington when the conversation took place must have been in May, 1871, as that was his last visit to Washington while Collector, which fact he discovered by examining the hotel register.

BLOODY AFFRAY NEAR MEMPHIS—DESPERATE RESISTANCE OF AN OUTLAW—HE WOUNDS SIX OF HIS PURSUERS BEFORE SURRENDERING.

MEMPHIS, March 18. A desperate fight occurred at President's Island, a few miles below this city, yesterday. Deputy Sheriff Rodegan went there to arrest a negro named John White, who has for some time been the terror of the negroes living there. Rodegan was met by a large body of armed negroes who proposed to assist in the arrest. They stated that White had barricaded his cabin and made a desperate fight. Rodegan approached the cabin and demanded the surrender of White, who refused, saying he would be murdered by the negroes if he did. After some further parleying one negro approached the cabin and was shot dead by White, who rushed out and secured his gun. In a few minutes he shot another and secured his gun, but was wounded as he retreated to his cabin. White then opened a sharp fire, wounding four others. Rodegan seeing it impossible to dislodge him sent to the city for assistance. Sheriff Payne summoned a posse, went over and proceeded to take measures to burn White's cabin. White then surrendered. After his arrest it was with great difficulty that the negroes were kept from shooting him, they even threatening to shoot the officers if he was not delivered to them. White was brought to this city and lodged in jail. The prisoner has served a regular term in the third cavalry and said he had killed several men before.

INTERESTING DISCUSSION. Mr. Editor:—The Bucksport Farmers' and Mechanics' Social Club have under discussion the following question: "Resolved that the State of Maine is the best State in the Union for the young men to emigrate from, and Bucksport the best town in the State for the same purpose." The younger members take the affirmative. The older ones bring up what they have done in this place, how they used to be energetic, etc., claiming that the young men of this day lacked energy and perseverance; but they acknowledge they make no money now. The young men retort by asking them if they cannot make money now with all the experience of their youth, and with the capital which they gained at that time, how they expect the young men without capital or experience to gain a livelihood. Their meetings are well filled and a deep interest taken in the discussions. W.

THE E. & N. A. TRAINS. The E. & N. A. train which left this city yesterday morning went no farther than McAdam Junction and started to return as usual. At 6:48 P. M. it passed Danforth, but at 12:30 this morning had not reached Kingman, the next station at which there is a telegraph office, 22 miles this side. As a relief train with the "pick-axe brigade," was ahead, it is conjectured that it must have got off the track and thus prevented the passage of the down passenger train. The main portion of the road has been free from snow since Sunday, and the following dispatch from Carleton received here at 9:30 last evening, shows the condition of the Provincial part:—

The road is clear except between Fredericton Junction and Harvey [a little over 20 miles.] Have two engines and seventy men just leaving Fredericton Junction, and one engine with as many men leaving Harvey to meet. I hear that the driver of the engine snowed up at Cork [between the two above-mentioned stations] has carried water and got up steam, which will help. Hope to get all clear by morning and dispatch a train from here [Carleton] for the west, at midnight.

RUNAWAY. A gray colt drawn by Wm. A. Johnson in Nichols' gift enterprise, was being driven by the "drawee" on State street, yesterday afternoon, when something frightened the animal, which whirled quickly, throwing out the driver, and ran down the hill and across Kenduskeag bridge. In the square the frantic beast ran over Mr. B. R. Mosher of Orono, who had his head considerably bruised and one knee cut badly. Mrs. Jos. Wharff was driving across the square, when the runaway jumped upon her sleigh, crushing into kindling wood and throwing her out. Her horse was freed from the sleigh, but she bravely held on to the reins and brought him up, fortunately escaping herself with a few bruises. The original runaway came in collision with a stone post on Wood's corner, smashing the sleigh into fragments, and then taking the sidewalk ran up Main st. to the Harriman House, where the race was brought to a close. The sidewalk was crowded with ladies when the animal began his career upon it, but they all dodged into doorways and into the street in season to escape impending collision, though several were brushed by the flying steed. The square and adjacent streets were filled with teams, some of which promised to join in the running away business, but quiet was finally restored after a few rears, kicks and short runs by the excited horses. It seems almost a miracle that no person was injured in the affair. The colt which caused this muss is, as a number of persons can testify, "a hard critter to hold," and has not added to his laurels as a "family horse."

FATAL ACCIDENT. About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, just as the Maine Central freight train was starting from Waterville, Edward G. Blake of this city, who with a companion, had just come up from Vassalboro, undertook to jump upon a platform car. The train had gained considerable headway, and missing his hold, young Blake fell under the wheels and was instantly killed, both his legs being completely severed and his body otherwise terribly mangled. The train was stopped at once and the mutilated remains carefully removed. In the hope that life was not extinct, but a glance showed the hope to without foundation. Learning that the deceased belonged in this city, the railroad officials telegraphed the City Marshal the intelligence of the accident, and through enquiries set on foot by him it was soon ascertained that the boy's father was fireman in the Muzzy Iron Works, and resided on Parker st. The sad news of the lad's death was conveyed to the parents by officer Sweetsir, and their grief can better be imagined than described. The distressed father was at the station last night, hoping against hope, that after all his son might still be alive, though terribly injured, and as the train came in he ran along the platform repeatedly asking the baggage-master in trembling tones, "Isn't my poor boy alive?" The lad's sister was also at the depot, and as the body, enclosed in the neat casket furnished by the railroad officials, was taken out of the car, her passionate demonstrations of sorrow were most painful to witness, and even the roughest men in the crowded station found tears of sympathy in their eyes.

Young Blake was about 16 years of age, and left home some time since to seek employment in the western part of the State.—His friends had not heard from him since his departure, and the first intelligence received of him was of his death. His mother says she dreamed the previous night that her boy had met a violent death, and when informed of the accident exclaimed, "I knew it! I knew it."

MAYOR'S ADDRESS.

Gentlemen of the City Council:—

In forming a new government, it is fitting that the first act should be one acknowledging our dependence on the Supreme Ruler over all. In reviewing the year just closed, we find causes for humility and for gratitude.

Our Chief Magistrate, who ever manifested a deep interest in all that pertained to the welfare of our city, whose generous impulses ever prompted him to relieve the wants of the needy, was suddenly removed from us, while actively engaged in the duties of life. May we be admonished thereby, that we too, may be called away, while the trusts we this day assume are upon us.

We have cause for gratitude, that loathsome pestilence and disease, has not visited us. Thanks to a kind Providence, and the faithfulness of our to whose report you are referred for various suggestions in his department.

Our city has not like others been visited with the terrible scourge of fire. Our it gives me pleasure to say, has fully sustained its well-earned reputation for promptness and energy. The amount of our losses during the year, not covered by insurance, is only twenty-five hundred dollars. No extra expenditures are called for. Your attention will be called to suggestions in the report of the Chief Engineer, which will doubtless be for the interest of the city to adopt.

The efficiency of both the Health and Fire Departments, would be greatly increased by the introduction of an abundant supply of pure WATER.

Very many of our citizens during the past winter have suffered much inconvenience from the want of it. The increase of out-buildings, with imperfect drainage, renders its introduction desirable. While under many circumstances it might be well for the city, in its corporate capacity, to undertake the enterprise, I cannot think it would be wise under the present or prospective condition of our finances. Should any responsible company ask of us the right to lay pipes through our streets, I trust it will be readily granted, on such terms and conditions as will be for the best interest of our city.

STREETS.

The expenditures in this department for the year are about forty thousand dollars. ($40,000). With more than 125 miles of streets, and unfortunately so many old wooden bridges to keep in order, we cannot but expect this department to be one requiring large outlays. It is economy, however, to do what is done, thoroughly. Judicious expenditure, made for the improvements of streets and sidewalks, will be appreciated by our people, and render our city more desirable as a residence.

PAUPER DEPARTMENT.

From the report of the Overseers of the Poor, you will learn its condition, and so far as I am able to judge, no department is better managed for the interests of the city. The whole expenditure is about $13,000. The Alms House continues to be satisfactorily kept by Mr. Samuel Jewett. I think it would be well for our entire board to visit it, and judge for themselves, whether the request of the Overseers to have the building somewhat enlarged, that they may have better hospital accommodations, should not be complied with. Also to consider the expediency of heating with steam, as we are fast using up our wood lot.

SCHOOLS.

There can be no doubt but what our people are fully aware of the important relation they hold to the future prosperity of our city. I shall refer to the material interests, rather than the intellectual.

The expenditures have been about $38,000. We have over thirty wooden houses, some of them more than twenty-five years old, and constantly growing older. They annually require considerable expenditures, which can not be prudently delayed.

The urgent demand for more room is pressed upon us. Listen to a few extracts from the reports of the Committee:—"In the beginning of the year there were nearly fifty pupils more than there were accommodations for." "Mr. Stewart's school, which has seats for ninety pupils, (and crowded at that) had one hundred and fourteen." The Girls' Grammar School is in about the same condition. "The second class in the Select School were accommodated in three rooms, of fifty sittings each, and numbered one hundred and seventy." "The most serious difficulty, is the promotion of this second class, occupying three rooms, into two rooms assigned to the first class, or how to put three pints into a two pint measure."

Many previous administrations have suggested that the time would soon come when we must build a good house. Can there be any doubt [illegible]? The Committee [illegible] in the opinion that no city in [illegible] of the size, intelligence and wealth of Bangor, has such poor school-houses. Will not our neglect to provide suitable accommodation show a disregard to the health and comfort of teachers and scholars of whom we are justly proud? We need a large brick house with modern improvements, on each side of the stream, with accommodations for a thousand pupils each. One of them should be built this season.

Your early attention will be called to the various reports of the Committee on this subject, as well as the one advising the passing an ordinance fixing the term of members at three years, and providing that the terms of two only should expire annually.

POLICE.

If, without neglect, we fall considerably below the force required in other cities of our size, we should be proud of our fellow citizens that it is so. It certainly is a very important department; on its faithfulness largely depends the quiet, safety and protection of life and property.

[illegible] to learn by the report of the City [illegible] the amount of liquors seized on [illegible] been less than one-tenth the [illegible] taken the previous year. Were this [illegible] to the fact that there was less occasion [illegible] it would be well.

[illegible] subject of so much importance both to the physical and moral welfare of our people as

or the enforcement of the law against selling intoxicating drink, you will not expect me to be silent. It would be well could we instill such principles into our children, as would always lead them to resist temptation; then prohibitory laws would be unnecessary; but the millenium has not yet come; till then we must rely on the law to assist us.

The day has gone by when laws to stop drunkenness can be denounced as infringements of natural rights. Every year adds to the number of States in our Union passing such laws. It would be much easier to enforce them could we have a healthy public sentiment in their favor. But we have no right to wait for this; we are not judges of the law, but executors of it.

FINANCES.

The subject is one first in importance to our citizens, and always should be, for upon its success, and good management entirely depends our prosperity as a city.

Our people are sensitive on this matter, and will hold us accountable for wisdom, prudence, and economy in its management.

There became due and was paid 43,000

Leaving amount due $274,200

$35,000 of which matures in September next and will need to be provided for, either by taxation or a new loan.

We are indebted for a temporary loan of $35,000.

There is due the city for uncollected taxes about $55,000.

The actual Municipal indebtedness, less taxes due, is about $244,000.

The books and accounts of the Treasurer have been kept during the past year, in the same form and manner which has been followed for the last twenty-five years without any material change.

It will be found, however, in the usual statement which is to be made and published for distribution, that there has been, in accordance with the instruction given the Treasurer by the Finance Committee, a sub-division of the accounts, in order to show with greater distinctness the precise expenditures in the various departments.

The time cannot be far distant when the wants of our city will demand a new

CITY HALL.

I would advise that a committee be appointed to ascertain if the lot lying between the County Jail and Franklin street, can be purchased, and on what conditions. If on such terms as that the income will for the present pay the interest I would recommend its purchase.

Several suggestions here made contemplate expenditures, perhaps not popular to make. Taxes should not be increased. Burdens clog business. Increase of debt which increases ability to pay, is no burden. By withholding, encouragements to enterprises such as will ultimately contribute to the healthy growth of the city, we bequeath to its future the result of a narrow, illiberal policy. We should not hesitate, if necessary, to increase the public debt, believing that our children can better afford to pay than be deprived of the advantages which improvements might secure.

Having taken the oaths of office, which are not without meaning, let us have no party or personal interests to serve, but faithfully and impartially do our duty.

JOSEPH S. WHEELWRIGHT.

After the delivery of the address, the convention adjourned and the two boards separated.

The justice of the verdict rendered by the public years ago in favor of the MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT must be apparent to all who have used that famous preparation or seen it used. Its healing influence is irresistible. The most obstinate forms of neuralgic or rheumatic disease are totally cured by it, and that in an unconceivably short space of time. External injuries or sores, whether of man or beast, as well as all equine or human maladies for which a liniment may be used, are speedily remedied by its use. Remember it is not merely a palliative but an eradicant of disease.

The most sanitary results are experienced by taking an occasional dose of that palatable vegetable compound, SMOLANDER'S EXTRACT OF BUCHU. This medicine, by its curative properties, removes or counteracts kidney, bladder and glandular diseases, mental and physical debility, female irregularities, and all diseases of the urino-genital organs in either sex, and produces permanent health.

MR. JAMES I. FELLOWS, ST. JOHN, N. B.—SIR: Having, while at your establishment, carefully examined your prescription and the method of preparing your Compound Syrup, I felt anxious to give it a fair trial in my practice. For the last twelve months I have done so, and I find that in Incipient Consumption, and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs, it has done wonders. In restoring persons suffering from the effects of Diptheria, and the following Typhoid Fever, prevalent in this region, it is best remedial agent I have ever used. But for persons suffering from exhaustion of the powers of the brain and nervous system, from long continued study or teaching, or in those cases of exhaustion from which so many young men suffer, I know of no better medicine for restoration to health than your Compound Syrup.

LITTLE MARY'S WISH

BY MRS L M BENNY

I have seen the first robin of spring, mother dear,
And have heard the brown thrasher sing
And I know about the violets, I will surely come across
Before I die, I've wished for a beautiful thing!

I thought I would like to ask something for you
But I couldn't, please, for I have more than I do
I can read of what white you had all these beautiful things
Besides you have papa and me!

So I wished for a ladder so long that I could stand
One end up on our own cottage door,
And the other go up past the moon and the stars
And soar against Heaven a white floor

Then I'd get you to put on my pretty white dress
With my sash and my darling new shoes
And I'd find some white roses to take up to God
The most beautiful ones I could choose

And you and dear papa would sit on the ground
And kiss me and tell me good by
Then I'd go up the ladder and far out of your sight
Till I came to the door in the sky

I would be afraid keeps the door fastened tight
But as little cracks I could see
I would whisper, please, God, let this little girl in
She was tired as she can be!

She came all alone from the earth to the sky
For she always been wanting to see
The gardens of Heaven with their ribbons and flowers
Please sir, is there room there for me

MISS AUCHESSON'S BLUNDER

BY FRANK LEE BENEDICT

Miss Auchesson sat and threw pebbles into the water. But this amusement proved tiresome, for there was nothing to hurt it when a frog and Miss Auchesson was not inclined to do harm to somebody or something.

She had only arrived at Newport that day, and had already learned that the town which brought her there was an utter bore. Whether she should open her campaign or not before the season's debut for new frocks, been obliged to whisper certain confidences to the modiste in order to obtain further credit, and, worse than anything she had agreed to stay a whole month with the Spicers and thereby make their thin new house and unconquerable vulgarity endurable, did not seem to her a cheering reflection. It was a little hard on Miss Auchesson considered herself a sort of Napoleon the First in a small way—it was humiliation to feel that she must be nice to people we read by favor of Lily Spencer's pretty face.

She was a handsome woman extremely popular in society and possessed a delightfully frank open manner of which few persons could accuse her. It seemed as if she had in some way lost the good luck or fortune, but in this mission remained unfulfilled that she was never out of her mind during all the years between her eighteenth birthday and her twenty fourth. However there was no comfort, her tact and clear sighted nessa kept her from having a bad time. She had tried and failed. Fortunately nobody suspected that. Miss Auchesson was seen favorite with her own set.

She had now been a bad heart in mind during the night at her heart in mind eloping and left her terribly selfish. Under all her appearance of gayety she was miserably at war with destiny and the world. In the part assigned her. She fairly hated the people she was obliged to court and fell into the state of regarding their prospects as a personal wrong.

So she sat there in a shaft mood on the beach that morning, and thought it all over and over, and felt the growing dissatisfaction more than it could be. Leonard Drayton had only come home from Europe early in the spring. He had really been very cordial with her, somewhat attentive in fact. She speedily made a study of his disposition, and decided that he and his surroundings offered the very match she always meant to make.

She certainly judged him much more correctly than his friends generally did. He was no handsome, with so much dash and glitter about him, that he was considered so by many men; but by no means possessed. Miss Auchesson did have read him his character as easily as it she had been a clairvoyant in a trance. He was shallow, suspicious, tyrannical and, with it all, weak. The sort of man to be unconsciously governed by any woman who knew how. But he went off to Baltimore to visit some relatives, and Lily Spencer happened to be there, so while Miss Auchesson was arranging her plans for the early summer, raising heaven and earth to get Newport with a suitable wardrobe and meet him the whole genteel comedy (with a touch perhaps of the pathetic drama) which she had arranged was rendered pointless and deprived of a main act.

She sat there thinking, when the sound of footsteps on the sand caught her ear. She saw the man himself, idly strolling along the beach, looking handsomer than ever in his stylish summer attire, and with the tinge of bronze the sea winds had given his pale, thin face.

She knew that she presented a pretty picture in her white morning dress, set off by the peculiar blue permissible to dark complexions, the grace of whose easiness is becoming shadow, the grounds of the Spicer villa for a middle distance, and the sun tinted waves in front. So she sat a delightfully unconscious of his approach gazing out over the sea with a wistful, pretty expression she had cultivated for photographs, and which made her look across between a poetess and a subject.

Mr Drayton sauntered slowly toward her, humming snatches of a song in his clear tenor voice, then the blue and white draperies attracted his attention, and he put his glass up to take a better view, possessing the effect of just sufficiently short sight to give him an excuse for the use of lenses. He looked then came forward but Miss Auchesson watching all the while she was doing sapphic saw that his face did not brighten into the least show of satisfaction and once again that desire to hurt somebody or something rose in her soul. She lifted her eyes at exactly the right instant—had a pretty bit of facial bisterjects, allowing the expression to change from doubting wonder to surprise, then melt into a charming smile of welcoming.

"You are my first visitor except a swallow," said she, holding out her hand. "How do you do Mr Drayton? I am delighted to see you."

He took the hastily given hand, and felt something about the pleasure of meeting her and she rattled on in her merriest mood, entertaining way. She saw that he seemed relieved and at ease, and knew him so well that she understood the reason. He was one of those men who always think every woman tails desperately in love with them and as he had flirted a good deal with Miss Auchesson felt a little awkward at meeting her for the first time since his engagement had been made public. She could have struck him in the face with keen enjoyment, for though her life had taught her to flatter and beguile she was a haughty woman at heart with a fierce hatred and scorn for her own powers of dissimulation.

"And you only came last night?" he said. "If we was I was to obey the impulse that urged me out for an early walk."

"I am sure it was just an interposition of fate in my favor," returned she. "I was just thinking about you and wishing and wanting to see you."

Mark like he showed some what amiss in his effort to say and answer properly—that was a slight consolation.

"I have never had a chance to congratulate you," she went on, "but I do now most heartily. Lily Spencer is one of the sweetest girls I ever knew, and, O, dear me, you'll be as happy as the prince and princess in the fairy tale. One might detest the pair of you, only you are both so nice one has to be glad at your fortune."

He looked horribly flattered, she knew that he was thanking her a very handsome agreeable woman.

"I only wish he was able to say something fit in return," said he, "but I can only thank you in my poor way."

"The best way possible cried the because I am sure it is sincere. You know we were good friends last spring, you were pleasant and kind, and I never forget such things. I shall always look on believing that by a good wishes in your behalf had something to do with obtaining such complete happiness."

"I am sure I shall be delighted to think so," exclaimed he. "It was very amiable of you to remember me."

"Ah, dear! I don't think it is necessary to say that I shall remember you. Friends don't remember one another, they know each other's characters and are with they success of people or nothing else is indifferent."

"As if anybody could be indifferent to Miss Auchesson!"

"Well, I hope not. I want to be admired or liked—she regarded, in the brazen fashion that had given her a reputation for candor. She did it well, and small wonder; she had studied the accomplishment carefully.

When Leonard Drayton halted, he had no intention of delaying longer than the instant courtesy might demand; but half an hour after her dangerous eyes first met his, he was still seated beside her and had told her a great deal about his betrothal and his future plans, receiving more artful flattery than an ordinary woman could have managed in a month.

She found he had an appointment with Lily Spencer, and kept him beyond the proper time, indeed, had to remind him of his duty, so felt that she had done a fair month's work by way of commencement.

"I am sure you'll be scolded," said she, with a pretty childish laugh. "I'm so glad—it will do you good!"

Of course he sat down again. There is hardly a man who has not donkey enough in his composition to be caught in that trap!

Finally she sent him away, but he had promised to come to the villa for her at two o'clock. An omen that she might visit Lily in his company.

Please make her glad to see me," I was always very very fond of her, but I dare say she thinks me a horrid old cat for you know I am twenty four and she is not nineteen yet."

"She will be delighted to have you come," Drayton averred.

"But not if she thinks I kept you too late for your engagement, returned Miss Auchesson. "That is something no girl can forgive!"

"I'll is not so foolish!" he assured her.

"I don't know that I think it is foolish—Anyhow I'm not going to have her hate me! I shall say I sent you off in time so it will be our little secret—you see I've got it!"

She held out her hand and flashed another bewildering glance at him then changed her mind and would go back to the house, only he must leave her at the gate—not a step further should he come. So he went off mighty pleased with himself, and Miss Auchesson walked on to the villa thinking what a vapid, shallow animal he was, and wondering after self for caring about him yet she knew it was a fact—she came nearer loving him than she had done any man that ever approached her.

Then she was forced to endure ominous at ed Mrs Spicer for two long hours and felt that no creatures life was ever such a torments as hers. But Mrs Spicer dissolved no ice, it seemed, or patience, in the long hours she poured out and as ever so many people left their cards for Miss Auchesson that morning, and of course had to do the same early by her hostess, the worthy soul thought what a lucky woman she was to have secured her guest. On her part Miss Auchesson began to wonder whether in case that came to the worst that dressmaker's bill did not be cleverly hitched on the Spicer account as that were always punctually brought in, even longer than a Welsh genealogical tree.

Mr Drayton came for her at the appointed time and Miss Auchesson was so perfectly delightful as to charme to meet his fiancée interested so frank and cordial, that Lily felt with consequence smitten as not having can't enough for her to think of her a dozen times during the months they had been separated. Besides she seemed such an old friend of Drayton's that of course she must like her. Miss Auchesson planted her self and did it very neatly, too, for a humble dollars.

At that bad boy was late this morning said she stopped somewhere on the way. I have you my word I sent him off in ample time."

Then she kissed Lily and made her promise to come next day to the villa, and give such a ludicrous account of the Spicers and the way in which they wore themselves out trying to be fashionable that it must could not have helped laughing. "But in a wicked moment," she added "only I know you won't repeat it. They're the best-hearted people in the world! Dear Mrs Spicer was absolutely ill when I refused to come. I'm sure it's very good of them to want me, and you know a woman who will soon be an old maid and has to live with a step mother and three half sisters, appreciates being liked—though of course they're so good to me, but I must be other way."

It doesn't sound well when written, but the manner of saying it was irresistible. A stone dragon must have pitied her—felt that under all her gayety there was a reasonless heart ache. At that Cinderella's kitchen was a parade compared to the home of this brilliant creature.

So the visit was pleasant to Lily, only it was not pleasant to be told that any woman sent her lover back! She had no capabilities for growing absurd or jealous, but she did not like it. This morning was the beginning of rapid intimacy, and the engaged pair found Miss Auchesson so charming that she was never in the way, and the sight of their happiness did her such good—renewed her faith in human nature! Anything that she could do to show how she appreciated them both—she should be so glad—and—through a long string of pre-dry offers and dramatic speeches. For a while Lily liked Miss Auchesson, and was so sorry for her because somehow she had the impression that she was a very sad lone creature at heart.
